Footbridge Falls With 80 Persons

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—The wreckage of a collapsed golf course river bridge was examined by repair experts today in the wake of Saturday's near tragedy while seven injured persons, including six women, remained hospitalized.

The 200-foot suspension footbridge fell into the Clinton River on the Hillcrest Country Club course, causing injury to a known 46 men, women and children crowding the span at the annual Women's Wolverine Open Golf Golf Tournament.

A snapped mooring for one of the four steel cables supporting the bridge was blamed for its collapse.

Eighty people, including the two or three occupants of a 600-pound golf cart, were plunged 18 feet into the water.

Among those hospitalized over the weekend was golf star Joe Anne Prentice, 30, Birmingham, Ala., professional. Miss Prentice, who suffered leg cuts and was shaken up, had to leave the tournament, in which she had been a leader.

"It could have been a disaster," said Lt. Frank Coluzzi of the Macomb County Sheriff's Department. "There were just too many people on the bridge. That's why it went down."

Senate Starts Study Of Pact To Curb Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman led off the drive for ratification of the nuclear test ban treaty today as a witness before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees and the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee.

The chairmen of all three groups were on hand along with most of the members as they went into closed session to hear from the chief U.S. negotiator of the Moscow agreement with Britain and the Soviet Union to ban all but underground tests.

While Harriman and State Department associates carried the burden of policy arguments in the historic study of the pros and cons of the pact, the views of the Joint Chiefs of Staff were expected to bear heavily on the outcome.

Harriman and Secretary of State Dean Rusk face intensive questioning on the agreement and whether there may be in the offing any collateral pacts with the Soviet Union, such as a nonaggression declaration proposed by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

However, the administration strong support for the treaty-led by President Kennedy's declaration that it is "an important first step" toward peace seemed likely to need a bolstering endorsement from the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., an administration supporter, brought up the issue in a week-end statement. He said he was concerned over "the apparent single-mindedness of the military mind for assuming that the nation's security can only be protected through a continuation of nuclear testing and the arms race in general."

Red Bloc Balks At Moscow Plan

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet bloc will set up its own international bank to facilitate trade payments within the group, but Premier Khrushchev's East European allies and Mongolia have rejected his bid to control their economic planning from Moscow.

Communist party and government officials here for last week's meeting of the Council for Mutual Assistance apparently shelved Khrushchev's proposal for a Kremlin-based central planning organ.

A Camecon communique issued Sunday said the old method of bilateral talks on national programs would lead to improved bloc-wide coordination of economic planning.

Two obstacles appeared to be behind the rejection of a central planning agency.

Communist Romania reportedly opposes Soviet experts who want to curtail Romania's heavy industry development in favor of light industrial and agricultural production.

Other East European governments were believed reluctant to sacrifice the limited economic independence from Moscow they now enjoy.

Williams said "much may depend on the attitude of the military and Joint Chiefs of Staff" so far as Senate action is concerned.

To become effective, the treaty must be ratified by a two-thirds vote in the Senate.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said if there is military opposition to the treaty the Defense Department will have to be misled that foreign policy is determined by the civilian branch of the government.

NASSER APPROVES

LONDON (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser says the United Arab Republic will join in the partial nuclear test ban agreement initiated by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union. Israel is expected to take similar action.

Nasser told a student group in Alexandria Sunday night he supported Indian Prime Minister Nehru's call for all nations to support and sign a test ban treaty.

Nasser also called for more disarmament negotiations and eventual destruction of nuclear stockpiles.

If the U.A.R. and Israel join the test ban, it will ease a source of tension in the Middle East. They have accused each other of trying to develop nuclear weapons.

Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., an administration supporter, brought up the issue in a week-end statement. He said he was concerned over "the apparent single-mindedness of the military mind for assuming that the nation's security can only be protected through a continuation of nuclear testing and the arms race in general."

Cold War Looms Over Malaysia

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—The government chiefs of Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines gathered today for a summit meeting called to head off Southeast Asia's cold war over the proposed federation of Malaysia.

President Sukarno arrived for Tuesday's summit in a jovial mood after pledging to wreck the Malaysia plan unless his terms are met.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, committed to forming the Malaysia federation Aug. 31, arrived two hours later. He also was smiling.

President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines proposed the conference.

The immediate problem is the formation of Malaysia, a chain of states embracing Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo, all former or present British territories.

A larger issue is whether Indonesia will cooperate with Malaya and the Philippines in a confederation of 150 million people to eliminate subversion—Communist or otherwise—and help bring peace and security to the area.

Cairo Tenements Collapse; 12 Dead

CAIRO (AP)—Rescue workers, tired by a night-long search, said today they had pulled out all the bodies from three crowded tenement buildings which collapsed. They set the toll at 12 dead.

Nineteen people were found alive in the wreckage. Eight were hospitalized from near suffocation.

Officials said more than 100 persons lived in the three buildings in a old section of Cairo but only 31 were inside when the collapse occurred Sunday afternoon.

Kennedy Is Not Unbeatable Man, Says Rep. Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Gerald R. Ford, (R-Mich.) said today President Kennedy is not unbeatable next year and the Republicans must come up with the best possible candidate to oppose him.

Ford, chairman of the House Republican conference, said he believes recent political developments indicate that Gov. George Romney was on sound political ground when he started earlier this year he was not a candidate for the nomination.

Romney has stated repeatedly that he is not and will not be a candidate for the party's nomination next year and he intends to concentrate on Michigan problems as governor.

Romney In Good Spot

"I believe Gov. Romney has made considerable headway in solving Michigan problems," Ford said. "By doing this, he has stayed out of the by-play between Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and others in the party. This keeps him in the position of not being labelled by anyone as an extremist."

Ford is one of the party leaders in the state who has been urging the Michigan delegation to the convention to back Romney as a favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination.

Ford said he agreed with Romney's decision not to be an active candidate for the nomination. As a result, Ford said, the Michigan governor would be in a good position at the convention if the delegates get snarled in arriving at a candidate.

Discussing Gov. Rockefeller's statement in New York on July 14, interpreted by some as a slap at Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Ford said "if you read Rockefeller's statement carefully, it indicates he was not intending to criticize other individual party leaders."

Not Extremist

Nevertheless, Ford said, the impression was created that Rockefeller was being critical of Goldwater rather than the extreme rightist groups.

As far as Goldwater is concerned, Ford said, a careful reading of his statements shows that "he is not associated with the radical or extreme groups. Sen. Goldwater is a conservative, but that is widely different from being an extremist."

It is his belief, Ford said, that the 1964 Republican convention will be wide open although Goldwater will have a lot of support there as will Rockefeller.

Ford said there are other possibilities as well in the party and he believes it is important that the Republicans come up with a nominee that has the qualifications to do a good job as president.

Unions And Roads Not So Far Apart, Senator Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the Senate committee "watchdogging" railroad union talks says it certainly is possible for them to settle their dispute by negotiations.

"I don't think those parties are as far apart as is assumed," said Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., acting chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, which has been hearing testimony on President Kennedy's proposals for averting a nationwide rail strike.

Pastore commented in an interview after two weekend negotiating sessions, conducted by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, failed to bring any signs of progress. Pastore, indicating strong congressional reluctance to act in the strike, cut short hearings Saturday so the talks could be resumed.

The Senate and House Commerce Committees scheduled sessions today.

Rail union leaders were scheduled to testify on Kennedy's proposal to let the Interstate Commerce Commission deal with the

Space Capsules Snared In Sky By Air Force Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says its recovery planes are perfecting the technique of snaring space capsules out of the air as they parachute back from orbit.

In revealing this Sunday, the Air Force said recovery flights by the 6593rd Test Squadron, based at Hawaii's Hickam Air Force Base, have been so successful in two years of operations that they are now considered almost routine.

The disclosure came in an announcement that the Air Force has given the test squadron the outstanding unit award for its work in recovering capsules from its little-publicized series of satellite launches.

The Air Force has been launching satellites from Point Arguello, Calif., with little fanfare.

What information that has been released indicates the satellites have included those of the Discoverer type launched in a polar orbit.

North Koreans Kill 2 Americans

SEOUL (AP)—North Korean troops killed two American soldiers and wounded another today in a dawn ambush just south of the demilitarized zone about 20 miles from Seoul, the U.N. command announced.

Col. George Creel, U.N. command spokesman, said the Reds launched "a vicious and unprovoked attack" on three members of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division as they rode in a jeep to a guard post near Chungyang-Dong.

Creel said the American soldiers were hit by machine-gun fire and grenades which apparently came from seven ambush positions just inside the demilitarized zone.

"We can assume there were seven North Korean soldiers in the raiding party," he said.

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon on the incident, which occurred two months after a helicopter carrying two American captains was fired on and forced down in Red territory.

The North Koreans have refused to release the captives despite U.S. demands in the mixed armistice commission.

Saboteurs Killed By Their Bomb

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—A bomb exploded prematurely at an American-owned oil pipeline Sunday night, killing two saboteurs who were planting it.

It was the fourth bombing at the Creole Petroleum Co. pipeline here. The company is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Goof Leaves 110 Britons Stranded In Idlewild Field

NEW YORK (AP)—"Somebody goofed."

This was the reaction of a Capitol Airways spokesman when asked about a mixup that left 110 Britons stranded at Idlewild Airport Sunday.

They had been told their chartered flight to Manchester, England, would leave at 8 p.m. Sunday. But when they showed up at the airport they found a small notice tacked to a wall near the check-in counter, stating that the flight would depart "as scheduled" at 8 tonight.

The tourists came to New York June 30 aboard a Capitol Airways propeller flight.

About 80 of the tourists were driven to a Manhattan hotel Sunday night and put up at Capitol's expense.

key work rules dispute. The unions have been critical of the President's plan.

Pastore, noting that the chief stumbling block "is the fireman's helper" question, said the railroads wanted to eliminate 32,500 jobs of firemen.

"We heard that as late as June the labor leaders were suggesting 5,500," he said. "Somewhere between there these people have got to come to some agreement."

The 5,500 figure was raised Saturday by H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, who said the companies had refused even to consider it.

Pastore criticized a proposal by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, that joint congressional committee be created to supervise the talks.

"This committee is watchdogging now and it will continue to watchdog," he said.

The railroads have postponed the work rule changes until Aug. 29 to give Congress time to act.

A bewildered child sits alone on a pile of rubble that once was her home in Skopje, Yugoslavia, devastated by an earthquake. The little girl was believed the only survivor of her family. Evacuation of the city ruins was ordered as the danger of typhus mounted. (AP Wirephoto)

Yugoslav Quake Survivors Flee From Epidemic

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Survivors by the thousands fled quake-shattered Skopje and the threat of a typhus epidemic today.

As authorities announced the search for more survivors would end after today, the government reported a Yugoslav girl was pulled out of the rubble, still alive 80 hours after she was entombed in Friday's killer earthquake.

Premier Alexander Grlickov of the Macedonian Republic said the number of bodies recovered headed toward the 900 mark and an estimated 700 dead were still buried under rubble.

But Grlickov said it would be assumed that no one else now could be found alive and the government would go ahead on that conviction to raze all the buildings in this ancient Macedonian capital.

New Site Planned

Possible epidemics and renewed earthquakes posed a constant problem, he said. There were a few new tremors Sunday but they were slight.

On the fourth day after the cataclysmic quake demolished the city, the stench of cracked sewers, human waste and refuse mingling with the smell of decomposing bodies lay like a stifling blanket over the sun-scorched area. Temperatures were in the 90s.

Each passing hour brought the danger of possible typhus outbreak even closer.

Now, Grlickov said, the main concern was finishing the evacuation of all people not engaged in clearing work or other essential jobs and putting heavy demolition crews to work razing the city.

A new city for the 270,000 population will be built from the ground up on a safer site to be determined after Seismological studies are completed, Grlickov said.

More than 70,000 women, children and old people had cleared out of the city by early morning and still they poured out, on foot and in cars, trains and planes.

Some pushed carts filled with a few salvaged belongings. Others peddled bicycles slowly through the debris.

At government order, evacuation of everyone but men able to help in heavy work was being carried out.

The recovery of a Belgian couple from the rubble Sunday after 55 hours of being buried alive raised some hopes that more living might still be found.

Then rescue of the Yugoslav girl stirred another faint spark of hope.

Premier Grlickov said the work of completely razing the city would take only a few days, starting Tuesday.

Navy Wants 4 Deep Dive Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the new Navy from Washington.

DEEP DIVERS: The Navy says by 1970 it needs at least four deep-diving vessels capable of plunging four miles to spend an entire day exploring the ocean bottom.

The Bathyscaphe Trieste, which has made four dives in a vain search for the lost nuclear submarine Thresher, can dive six miles. But it is unable to stay on the bottom more than four hours and can explore only one square mile in any one dive.

The Navy's hope for the super vessels were revealed in a report issued last weekend by the White House's Office of Science and Technology.

AIRLIFT: Lack of funds is threatening to sidetrack a Defense Department plan to test military mobility by airlifting an entire division—about 15,000 men—to Europe later this year.

The airlift would be the largest ever for training purposes.

Both France and the United States, he said, have every reason to maintain the Atlantic alliance (NATO) as long as the free world is faced by the Soviet bloc which "is animated by a dominating and detestable ideology."

The president, who in the past has been critical of many aspects of NATO, described the alliance as an "elemental necessity" for both the United States and France.

He added that both countries have assumed "capital responsibilities" in the pact, with Washington furnishing nuclear armaments.

War I.

Treaty Needless For His Nation, President Says

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle said today France will not sign the Moscow agreement to halt nuclear testing above ground, in space or under water.

De Gaulle said that since France would never strike the first blow, such a nonaggression pact would be needless.

The president was referring to proposals advanced by the Russians in their recent talks with the United States and Britain that the limited nuclear test ban treaty by the three powers be tied into a European nonaggression pact. Premier Khrushchev has publicly asked for it, and the United States and Britain agreed to take up this subject with their allies.

No Aggression

De Gaulle commented: "Today, France solemnly declared through the voice of the president of the Republic that there will never be any aggression by France. Our participation in a pact of nonaggression is hence without purpose."

He also rejected any European nonaggression pact as proposed by the Soviet Union at the test ban talks with the United States and Britain. The test ban pact was initiated last week.

Addressing a crowded news conference, De Gaulle said France will call for a general conference on disarmament before the end of this year.

He declared that France will halt its own nuclear program only if the United States and the Soviet Union agree to destroy their nuclear stockpiles.

He said the disarmament conference should consider the destruction of stockpiles and the destruction of vehicles — such as missiles and rockets—for delivering nuclear bombs.

World Left In Danger

This is in line with long-established French policy—that France would resign from the nuclear club only if the club itself is disbanded.

De Gaulle said that while the Moscow agreement might be considered a good thing as a starting point, it still left the world in danger.

"It has not lifted the atomic menace, which weights on the world," he said. "None of the signers has renounced the use of atomic weapons and hence the position of the world has not been changed in any way."

De Gaulle said France, which is just on the verge of having its own complete nuclear arsenal, cannot halt its efforts now.

De Gaulle noted that the Moscow agreement does not prevent the three major nuclear powers from continuing the manufacture of these weapons.

He said: "The agreement can be denounced in three months. It changes nothing in the terrible menace which the nuclear weapons of the two great powers hold over the world."

De Gaulle acknowledged that differences exist between Paris and Washington.

But he told a news conference: "Despite the differences which exist, to think that the United States wishes to do wrong to France, or that France wishes harm to the United States, would be a ridiculous absurdity."

Alliance Is Necessity

That was his reply to a question on the state of French-U.S. relations.

De Gaulle declared that "there's no use talking about scratches as incurable wounds" in appraising the state of French-American relations.

Both France and the United States, he said, have every reason to maintain the Atlantic alliance (NATO) as long as the free world is faced by the Soviet bloc which "is animated by a dominating and detestable ideology."

The president, who in the past has been critical of many aspects of NATO, described the alliance as an "elemental necessity" for both the United States and France.

He added that both countries have assumed "capital responsibilities" in the pact, with Washington furnishing nuclear armaments.

Safety Meetings Planned For UP

Gov. George Romney will confer with citizen leaders and traffic experts at several regional traffic safety conferences at seven cities around the state during August. Secretary of State James M. Hare, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, and other top state officials will speak and give leadership to the program. The series is co-sponsored by the State Safety Commission and the Michigan Citizen Highway Safety Action Committee.

Improving licensing of drivers, a possible vehicle inspection law, expanded traffic law enforcement, and raising standards for driver education will be the main subjects at the meetings.

Michigan figures for the first six months of 1963 reveal that traffic deaths, injuries, and property damage reported have increased more than 16 per cent over the same period last year. If such a trend continues, financial loss alone could exceed $300 million for the year.

This alarming development was recently made the subject of a series of editorials by Ganger Weil, editor-publisher of the Port Huron Times Herald, released through the Michigan Press Association.

It is hoped that the series of regional conferences touching every section of the state will arouse officials and citizens alike to the need for cooperative action. The U.P. all day conferences are being held at Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 16 and Ironwood, Aug. 19.

Briefly Told

Track letters for the 1963 season arrived at the Escanaba Area Senior High School and can be picked up at the general office.

The sailing race for the John Bissell trophy scheduled to be held at 10 a.m. Sunday, was delayed to a later date because of adverse weather conditions.

Traffic court summons have been issued by Escanaba police to Stanley J. Meyers, Bark River, Rte. 1, and Norman L. Powers, Palmer, both for improper backing; W. J. Coughlin, Bark River, Rte. 1, speeding and no operator's license; Thomas M. Dufour, 406 S. 12th St., speeding; Nicholas Gomerac, 937 Sheridan Road, disobeying traffic signal; and Gerald G. Goodchild, Escanaba, Rte. 1, speeding.

Following fishing site dedication ceremonies, Conservation Officer Ransom Hill of Channing took visitors on a boat tour of Way Dam. He is shown piloting E. M. (Matt) Laifala, Hancock, conservation commissioner, in bow of boat, and Earl H. Clark, Houghton, president of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association. Youngster is Hill's son, Michael.

Four Agencies Combine To Create U.P. Fishing Site

The Upper Peninsula's newest public fishing site — created through the cooperation of four private and public groups — was dedicated last week.

Located near Channing, the project constructed two miles of road and the fishing site on the Way Dam.

Eager to gain access to the Way Dam, the Channing Area Development Bureau launched the project. It provided gravel, culverts and the fuel oil and gasoline needed to operate the heavy equipment used in constructing the road and clearing the fishing site.

The Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., which owns the land over which the road passes, granted an easement to the Michigan Department of Conservation, which provided equipment used in the construction.

The fourth party involved, the Dickinson County Road Commission, worked with the other three groups. Leigh Tobin, a member of the commission, said at the dedication ceremony, "It looks very much as though the country road commission will take over maintenance of the fishing site road."

Tobin also said he thought the site shows promise of becoming a good camping and trailer site, as well as a boat launching site.

Paul Challancin, Marquette, general chairman for the dedication ceremony, pointed out that the Conservation Department was unable to develop the site alone because it lacked funds.

Dorcas Curry, Marquette, U. P.

director of the Conservation Department, pointed out that the state has 769 public fishing sites, but that only 367 of them are developed and usable because there are no funds available.

"About five years ago we noticed an alarming downward trend in the sale of fishing licenses," Curry said. "Now the department is realizing half a million dollars less annually from this source. This has meant cutbacks in department operations, including development of fishing sites. Curry attributed the license sale decline primarily to a conflict in the use of water (motorboating and water skiing competing with fishing) and said television watching also probably has had an effect on license sales."

Earl H. Clark, Houghton, president of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association, traced the history of legislation providing for earmarking a portion of hunting and fishing license sales for land acquisition. "But inflation came along and costs increased," he said, "so all of the hunting and fishing license fees were needed for ordinary operations of the department. For all practical purposes, the public fishing site program has come to an end."

Stressing the importance of the Channing area project, E. M. Laifala, Hancock, a member of the state conservation commission, pointed out that "234 acres in Michigan are going under fence every day." He said public recreation facilities are of increasing importance because "a tremendous acreage is disappearing each year from the recreation domain."

Kenneth S. Lowe, Marquette, editor of the Mining Journal, commended the four groups for their initiative and their "fine example of cooperation." He said he hoped their efforts would serve as an inspiration for other community conservation projects in the Upper Peninsula.

'King And I' Is This Week's Bill At Keweenaw

Rodgers' and Hemmerstein's "The King and I" will open at the Keweenaw Playhouse, Calumet, for a six day run on July 30. Lilyan Wilder and Don Jacobs are starred as the bawdy, puzzled and polygamous King of Siam and the strait-laced English governess he engages to tutor his numerous progeny.

Replete with the picturesque-ness of what was a century ago a half barbarous land, "The King and I" tells a more absorbing story than is usually found in musical comedies; the story of a conflict of ideas between western civilization, as represented by a dauntless English governess, and an autocratic but well meaning king.

Sprinkled through this battle of sexes and a collision of races are some of the most tuneful songs from Rodgers and Hemmerstein — "Getting To Know You," "Hello Young Lovers," "I Whistle A Happy Tune," "Something Wonderful" and "We Kiss In A Shadow."

Mrs. Maurice Fortenberry and children of Oak Ridge, Tenn., spent a two week vacation with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bergman. While here the family motored to Sault Ste. Marie to see the Locks and the new bridge and did some sightseeing in the Canadian Soo also.

Fortenberry, the former Rosellen Bergman, and her family left this week to visit briefly with the Patrick Bergmans in Brighton, Mich., and the John Bergmans in Munster, Ind., where Mrs. Fortenberry will meet them for the return trip to Oak Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter O'Donnell of Escanaba and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gaudrault are spending the weekend in Racine with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lynaugh, former residents of Gladstone. The three women are sisters.

B. W. Thompson Taken By Death

Barney Walter Thompson, 92, of 1112 2nd Ave. N., died at 1:19 a.m. Sunday at the Pinecrest Medicare Facility in Powers after an illness of five years.

Mr. Thompson was born Dec. 31, 1870, in Chicago and was a dairy farmer on the Stonington Peninsula for about 30 years. He resided in Escanaba for the past eight years.

Survivors include: three sons, Kenneth, Huntsville, Ala., Carl and Dennis, Milwaukee; two daughters, Mrs. Edwin (Anna) Tahlman, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and Mrs. Agnes Christianson, Escanaba; and 12 grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Alto Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Tuesday, where the rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m. Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Charles Borromeo Church in Rapid River with Rev. John Suhr officiating. Burial will be in Rapid River Cemetery.

Milk Producers Swap Plants With Wilson & Sons

An agreement to swap plants almost $3,000,000, and to stop competing in the Lower Peninsula for certain types of business, has been announced jointly by Ira Wilson & Sons Dairy Co. and the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA).

Under the deal, effective Aug. 1, Wilson will stop making milk by-products such as cottage cheese, powdered milk and condensed milk, and will confine its processing operations to bottled milk, cream and ice cream.

MMPA, on the other hand, will withdraw from bottling and selling fluid milk, and will confine its processing operations to items like cottage cheese, powdered milk and condensed milk.

MMPA is a dairy farmers' cooperative whose members supply many Michigan dairies with milk. It also has bottling and processing plants and in the Upper Peninsula, newly acquired cheese plants at Rapid River and elsewhere.

The deal with Wilson provides that Wilson will acquire the MMPA's Dairyland division plant at Carson City, and will take over its customers, selling milk under the name Dairyland Valley Lea and various private labels.

MMPA, for its part, will acquire Wilson's manufacturing plant at Sarnia, and also will acquire all of Wilson's equipment for bulk transportation of milk.

Incorporation Is Sought By Chatham

CHATHAM—An 8-2 vote by the board of supervisors has given this Alger County community the "go ahead" signal for incorporation as a village.

Now a part of Rock River Township, Chatham is seeking to incorporate a rectangular area two miles by one and one quarter miles. A census must be taken and state approval obtained before officers can be selected for a village governing board.

American Negro Temper Changes And Crisis Grows

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has warned that "a time bomb ticks" in America's streets this turbulent summer of 1963.

The bomb is the explosive crisis which has flared in sporadic violence in Danville, Va., Cambridge, Md., and New York as Negroes and whites have clashed on the issue of full racial equality now.

Overhanging these and other outbreaks are the haunting questions: Will the bomb go off? How? Where?

Interviews with reports from top-level white and Negro officials in federal, state and municipal governments, with civic, social and religious leaders, and with citizens in the street, point to one conclusion:

There is grave danger of major racial violence as America looks for a solution to the deepening integration crisis.

In The North?
If chaos comes, the consensus is:

1. It may very likely—but not necessarily—occur in a Northern big city.

2. It may stem from rigid police action—or from a minor incident blown out of proportion by rumor.

National Urban League trustees report:

"Hundreds of thousands of (Northern) Negro citizens—struggling beneath the mounting burden of automation, overcrowding and subtle discrimination—are reaching the breaking point."

The Rev. Dr. Gardner Taylor, Negro pastor of Brooklyn's Concord Baptist Church, warns: "Mis-calculation of the moment of truth which is upon us could plunge New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles into a crimson carnage with a blood bath unparalleled in the history of the nation."

One of the worst years in the history of U.S. race relations was 1919. There were seven major riots that year—the three worst occurring in Chicago (38 killed, 537 wounded and injured), Washington, D.C. (6 killed, scores hurt), Phillips County, Ark. (30 killed, and hundreds hurt).

Rioting Again?
Can such riots come again?

Dr. Kenneth Clark, Negro professor at New York University, answers: "If white America refuses to grant rights to Negro citizens and continues to withhold them, I suppose white America will try killing Negroes. If white America is prepared to see Negroes being killed and killed, then this will happen, but it won't stop anything, because you simply cannot kill everyone."

In Chicago, Ralph Helstein, president of the United Packinghouse Workers—a union integrated decades ago—says: "My feeling is that the discontent still is below

Matthai Named Purchasing Chief

Arno C. Matthai

Harnischfeger Corp. announces appointment of Arno C. Matthai of Escanaba as director of purchasing and material control.

President Henry Harnischfeger said that Matthai will be responsible for all purchasing by the corporation as well as material control.

"Renewed study of these inventory levels," said Harnischfeger, "is certain to benefit our customers in terms of parts service and equipment availability. These studies will be in a continual process of review to keep us abreast of the fast changing requirements of the many markets in which we participate."

The new director of purchasing and material control has been serving as purchasing agent and materials manager at the corporation's Escanaba plant. He joined the company in 1935 and progressed from stores clerk to stores division supervisor before being named to the Escanaba post in January, 1960.

A Milwaukeean, he attended the old Milwaukee State Teachers College before joining Harnischfeger. Matthai is a member of the Lions Club and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds R. E. Anderson who died earlier this year.

Richard Campbells To Leave Rock For St. Claire Shores

A farewell party was given at the Rock Lions Club recently for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Campbell and family, who will soon move to St. Claire Shores.

The campbells will teach at St. Claire, she instructing second grade and he will teach auto shop and drafting in high school.

Daughter Bonnie will enter Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo to major in social work and son Douglas will enter the ninth grade.

Mrs. Campbell taught for a year in Perkins and has taught kindergarten in Rock.

Campbell decided to be a teacher also. He fitted his schedule to be able to attend Northern and still drive the Rock school bus. He graduated this spring with a bachelor of science degree in industrial arts.

and want action now, liberty now, equality now."

C. Sumner Stone Jr., editor of the Washington (D.C.) Afro-American, says "For the first time, I'd say, everybody is involved. All Negroes, except for some Uncle Toms, are prepared to be involved."

In Detroit, George W. Catheart of the Trade Union Leadership Council—a Negro labor power—was told about a professor's comment that "the old people got converted and the young people got religion," and related: "When I was a boy they told me, 'don't fight, get an education, I tell my boy, 'Fight, and if you get thrown out of school, I'll find you another one.'"

No Word Received From Parents In Earthquake Zone

DETROIT (AP)—Anxiety today still burdened the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Elia Christoff, unreported in the Skopje, Yugoslavia, earthquake.

"Nothing, just nothing—no word at all," said Mrs. Nevena Mahoney of Garden City, one of her four daughters.

Mrs. Mahoney said cables and long distance telephone calls had been fruitless.

Christoff, 73, retired plant guard, and his wife, Tsena, 63, went to their native Yugoslavia some time ago to visit relatives. Skopje was one of their destinations.

The other daughters are Mrs. John Boehm of Roseville, Mrs. Mildred Harp of Dearborn Heights, and Mrs. Maria Stevens of Toronto.

Two other Michigan couples who were in or near Skopje escaped harm. They were Mr. and Mrs. David Rheubottom of East Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. John Bobine of Warren and their daughter Julie.

Making Them Stay

Tourism developers have been telling the Upper Peninsula for years that it should do more to keep its recreational visitors.

The motel operator who thinks he's doing all right because he fills up in the peak months of summer travel isn't tempted to work hard at keeping his guests for a second or third night. There'll be some more along on the second and third nights, so why exert ourselves?

But this outlook doesn't spur growth. It's possible to drive the more than 300-mile expanse of the Upper Peninsula in one day and if a visitor does it he spends very little in the U.P. Worse, he doesn't really see it, doesn't savor and enjoy its attractive melt of historicity, beautiful landscape and seascape, and unique area character.

There are signs that the Upper Peninsula is awakening like Rip Van Winkle from its long sleep and becoming impressed with the cash value of its attractions for tourism, but the car bumper strips are reminders that much of our commercial enterprise in this field is cornball and misdirected.

No one need leave Detroit or Toledo to see a sea shell shack or mystery hole and if they become an important part of the Peninsula's offering to its visitors recreational quality is periled. Clare Gunn of Michigan State University reports serious deterioration in the quality of Upper Peninsula roadways in the past decade. It's another way of saying that we've lost a lot of our wealth; that we still don't understand the value of scenic beauty. When an area lets a car wrecking lot destroy property values for a whole neighborhood, it is posting a public policy of indifference to income.

The Upper Michigan Tourist Association's "Pays to Know" program is designed to impress Upper Peninsulans with the attractions that their home areas hold for visitors. It is making some progress. It will make a lot more and make it much faster when the U.P. becomes impressed with the pocketbook implications.

A look about our fringes is revealing.

At Mackinaw City the restoration of Old Fort Michilimackinac is an example of the kind of activity that the U.P. should be in up to its neck. A history-rich site is being developed so that the visitor can see the physical reality of the frontier.

When the Mackinac Bridge replaced the Straits ferries, Mackinaw City got a business wallop. Travelers no longer had to pause at Mackinaw City; they could whisk right over the bridge. Obviously most of them did, and still do, but Mackinaw City is changing the character of its appeal to visitors and building for a better future than could have been based on a quick grab at them while they were waiting for the ferry.

Fort Michilimackinac and other developments will give the area new attraction and require that the community plan to attract visitors and have something for them to see and do when they stop. This involves the difference between selling a quickie meal and an Indian headdress (made in Japan) and a half day visit to the fort that figured in the Massacre at Mackinac.

Washington Island at the tip of Wisconsin's Door County Peninsula is an object lesson for the U.P. Some persons on the island thought that it should "go modern" in its appeal to visitors—create amusement parks, turn the bars into nightclubs and generally jazz up the recreational tempo.

Wiser heads prevailed and the island kept its quiet bars and its fish boils, its Norwegian festival and other traditional island activities. At Gill's Rock, where you get the ferry for Washington Island, there's a big coffee pot where you're served coffee free, like a welcome guest at an old time island fishery.

What's the result of this old charm, of an atmosphere redolent of hot coffee, braided hair, fish and brown butter and clabbered milk? Land values on the island have increased enormously. There's very little beach property to be had. People are anxious to go there and build there in a place whose charm has not been exploited by imported gimcrack traps.

The Doctor Says:

Water Cools Off Fever

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

When is a fever not a fever? If an adult has a temperature of over 99.6 degrees (one degree above normal) we would agree that he had a slight fever.

This rule cannot be applied to infants and small children. In the first place, if a rectal temperature is taken, 99.6 is the normal reading. Also, if the infant is in his first two weeks of life, he may have a rectal temperature of 101 and not appear to be sick. Most likely he is not sick since the rise in temperature may be due to the fact that his temperature-regulating mechanism has not yet stabilized.

If the surrounding air is hot due to artificial heating in winter or a hot spell in summer, this, too, may cause the elevated temperature.

Another factor might be loss of body fluid. The newborn infant loses fluid rapidly through his skin and kidneys. Try giving the baby more water. If he takes it readily he is not sick, and his temperature will come down. If he refuses water he may have an infection and should be seen by a doctor.

Even in children who are old enough to run around, an elevation of one to one and a half degrees probably doesn't mean a thing, especially if the child has been very active. Fortunately most active children who do not complain of anything don't have their temperatures taken. This is a perfect example of "what mother there doesn't know won't hurt her."

Q—My youngster has a pharyngeal duct or cyst in his neck. Should it be removed?

A—In some children the embryonic development of the oral cavity is incomplete at birth and as a result there may be a cystic swelling in the neck. Associated with this there may be a slight intermittent discharge of mucus. Following a cold or sore throat the cyst may become infected and discharge pus. The only satisfactory treatment is complete removal of the cyst.

My 5-year-old son has porphyria and the doctor says he can't be cured but must take an antihistamine twice a day from May to October every year as long as he lives. He also uses a sun-protective cream and must wear a wide-brimmed hat all summer. Is there any other treatment?

A—This congenital hereditary disease is relatively rare. Its name derives from the fact that it is associated with the excretion of a large amount of a pigment called porphyrin in the urine. This gives the urine a red color. The victim's skin is extremely sensitive to light and there may be an increased growth of facial hair. In some persons with this disease the teeth may be red or red-brown.

It is essential to protect the skin from sunlight or any other source of ultraviolet rays. Since ordinary window glass filters out these rays your son will not need to be protected when indoors with the windows closed. Treatment is generally unsatisfactory. Some patients are benefited by removal of the spleen.

Edson In Washington Plans Extended For UM Campus

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Tentative plans for the Aug. 28 march on Washington by 100,000 or more Negro civil rights demonstrators call for the marchers to arrive in the capital early in the morning and leave that night.

Assurances have been given that there will be a delegation from every state. But it is recognized that many coming from great distances will begin arriving the day before.

A list of 51 assembly points for every state delegation and the District of Columbia is being compiled. As many points as possible will be within walking distance of the Ellipse, south of the White House grounds, where marchers will assemble at 2 p.m.

Marchers are being told that no food or shelter can be provided in Washington.

"Everyone will have to bring his own lunch," says the Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church in the capital, who is chairman of the co-ordinating committee for the march on Washington.

Local churches that can provide temporary shelter and some food are being asked to offer their facilities to the marchers. Washington civic, religious, social, fraternal and neighborhood groups which are supporting the march and sending delegations to join the demonstration are being registered.

An unknown number of white people are expected to join the march. Many who are strong supporters of the civil rights program have said they will march as individuals. And some white and bi-racial churches and other organizations will send delegations.

Delegations will arrive by airplane, train, bus and private automobile, says the Rev. Mr. Fauntroy.

The tentative program calls for state delegations to send a few of their leaders to congressional offices between 10 a.m. and noon. There will be no mass march on the Capitol and no sit-ins.

"We will do nothing to detract from regular congressional proceedings," says Rev. Mr. Fauntroy. "Since Congress normally convenes at noon, we hope to have all our people off Capitol Hill by that time."

The program at the Ellipse, beginning at 2 p.m., will be brief. "The most important part of the Ellipse program will be to focus a demonstration at the White House, urging the administration to propose legislation to bring about full employment in the United States," says Rev. Fauntroy.

The possibility that President Kennedy will speak to the marchers here is being widely speculated on in Washington, since he announced at his last press conference that he would be in the city on that date. White House Press secretary says there is nothing in the works and that no invitation has been received.

The official invitation would have to come from the heads of the six national Negro organizations sponsoring the march. A. Philip Randolph of New York, president of the Negro-American Labor Council, is march director. A Kennedy speech to the marchers, of course, would be a major political stroke.

Following the Ellipse program, the crowd will march down Constitution Avenue to Lincoln Memorial in what Rev. Fauntroy describes as "a solemn memorial procession honoring the memory of the slain Negro leader, Medgar Evers." There will be no bands.

The Lincoln Memorial program, running from 3 to 5:30 p.m., also is being arranged by the New York committee.

"The focus of this program will be to obtain passage of President Kennedy's civil rights program as a bare minimum for this year," says Fauntroy.

If this rally breaks up just as the evening traffic rush from the District to Virginia begins, it could create one of the worst jams in Washington's history. This is one of the many problems Washington police are working on.

To direct the marchers, Julius Hobson, chairman of Washington's Committee on Racial Equality, is assembling 10 teams of 50 men each to serve as an internal control force. They will be trained by "The Guardians," a private association of New York Negro policemen.

So far, there have been no indications that there will be counter-demonstrations. Washington police have denied a march permit to George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi Party.

Presidential electors meet to cast their votes in their respective states.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University plans today to preserve the personality of its 126-year-old campus into the distant future.

A site planners and architects report, third in a series that began in 1960, was made public at a meeting with Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County and state officials.

Hints of a resplendent future for the big and growing campus, a fenced-in 40 acres in 1837, year of its origin, were contained in a "Central Campus Plan Concept." The plan concept was a planning guide prepared by Johnson, Johnson and Roy of Ann Arbor, site planners and landscape architects. The future, as now, campus walkways are to be an integral feature of the University's physical layout.

The campus future contemplates five "sub-campus areas" with walkways connecting all and leading through the center of each one.

A walkway purpose is to preserve the "ideal simplicity of academic life, the intimate contact between fellow students and faculties..." Not too many years hence the University counts on having 40,000 or more students. The report points out that an impressive sight on any campus is the "great surge of students walking between classes."

The planners envisioned a future sub-campus of avenues well-lighted at night, of plazas and fountains, and of special functions such as theater, museum, exhibition halls, arcades, and libraries distributed along walkways.

"Occasionally, buildings would actually arch over the walkways constituting a spacious exhibition lobby..."

Pedestrian bridges would cross the Huron River. Auto traffic would move around the campus on a "flowing ring system."

Projecting possible campus expansion, the report calls for zones of extension to be "knitted to the (Ann Arbor) community through housing and service facilities."

The architectural scale would be small and size of buildings "intimate and residential in character." Areas between the zones of extension would be developed as "community neighborhoods" including small business and shopping complexes.

Marquette Dock Pickets Arrested

MARQUETTE — The Canadian freighter Red Wing was loaded by dock workers Saturday night after arrests of two pickets on charges of violating an injunction.

Employees of the Soo Line and Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railways helped to put aboard the freighter's iron ore cargo.

The pickets, William Babbett of Gary, Ind. and William Westbrook of Buffalo, N. Y., identified themselves as members of the Marine Engineers Benefit Association, a Great Lakes union.

The two were released in $500 bond to appear in court here Aug. 9.

Railway tracks in the harbor section were damaged by two dynamite explosions last Thursday night. Police said the blasts may have been connected with a dispute involving Red Wing owners and the Seafarers International Union. The SIU has been enjoined from picketing.

Wisconsin Law Angers Voters

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"It's ridiculous," "They can't do this to me," "It's a violation of my constitutional rights."

It's an opinion by the Wisconsin attorney general that you can't write to a state legislator and say you are for or against any legislation. That is, you can't unless you write to every one of the 133 state senators and assemblymen.

Atty. Gen. George Thompson handed down the opinion at Madison only last week. Despite the criticism, he says he will stick by it.

Thompson said it is illegal for anyone other than a licensed lobbyist to urge legislators to vote one way or another on a bill, except by appearing before a committee, through a newspaper, public speech or a written statement to all members of the legislature.

Thompson's opinion was asked after an official of the Wisconsin State College faculties sent a telegram to some lawmakers.

William T. Evjue, editor and publisher of the Capital Times of Madison, immediately challenged the law. He sent a telegram to Alfonsi, which said:

"I urge you to vote against a general sales tax. If you vote for such a tax I will do all in my power to defeat you in the next election."

Evjue challenged Thompson to prosecute him.

There has been no arrest. Thompson said he is entirely in agreement with the purpose of an amendment which would permit individual letter writing to legislators "provided no inducement or threat, expressed or implied" is made.

Meanwhile, Thompson says, the opinion "will be superseded only by legislative enactment, or by a contrary decision by the courts."

Mackie Announces M 35 Improvement Starting In 1965

A State Highway Department crew has started surveying for the planned $160,000 modernization of 1.4 miles of M-35 at Gladstone.

The Highway Department plans to widen the present 18 and 21-foot-wide highway to a uniform 24-feet from 9th St. to the west city limits.

Bids are scheduled to be taken on the project early in 1965, said State Highway Commissioner John Mackie.

Briefly Told

August Mattson Post 71, American Legion, will hold a regular meeting tonight at 7:30.

State Police of the Gladstone Post issued traffic summonses to the following over the past weekend: Thomas Grabowski, Chicago, speeding; Harold Kanas, Kenosha, Wis., speeding; Robert Soper, Rte. 1, Gladstone, no valid registration plates; Perry Pardee, Ensign, speeding; Dwight Harwood, Rapid River, speeding; James Bacsik, Rapid River, speeding and Omar Morey of 200 S. 23rd St., speeding.

State Police are seeking the whereabouts of 14-year-old Dixie Gale Bing of Rte. 1, Gladstone, missing from her home since Sunday evening. The Post was notified by the girl's father. She is described as being 5-feet 5-inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, has brown hair and eyes and was wearing a blue pint dress, tan coat and shoes when last seen. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the girl is asked to notify the Gladstone State Police Post.

Personals

Relatives attending funeral services for Mrs. Catherine D'hondt, were Mrs. William Vogt, Mrs. Annie Peerenboom, Mrs. George Hansen and Richard Peerenboom of Oshkosh and Arthur Poppe of Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hillman returned to Berwyn, Ill., after spending two weeks at the Tillman-Lang cottage.

The Escanaba Daily Press has expanded its circulation to the Newberry area. This means 200 more subscribers with more to come. This is valuable additional coverage to Press advertisers.

Report Three Auto Mishaps

Troopers of the State Police Post at Gladstone investigated several traffic accidents over the past weekend.

The first mishap occurred at 5:25 p.m. Saturday on U.S. 2-41, at the intersection of County Road 426, when a car driven by an Escanaba juvenile pulled out from the county road onto the highway into the path of an oncoming car.

The youth told officers he had stopped for the stop sign and not seeing any approaching traffic entered the highway. The oncoming car was driven by Leonard Lahaie, 55, of Laurium. It struck the right rear of the juvenile's vehicle.

The juvenile will be referred to Probate Court for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Harold Gagnon Jr., 19, of 802 Superior Ave., Gladstone, reported to State Police that he struck and killed a deer at 2 a.m. Sunday on County Road 533 in Wells Township.

Gagnon said the animal jumped from the side of the road and ran just ahead of his car, then suddenly turned back and ran into the path of the car. The Conservation Department was notified.

Frank Harris, 49, of 209 S. 6th St., Gladstone, was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law and for failure to report a property damage accident, as the result of a mishap at 4:15 p.m. Sunday on County Road 513 in Ensign Township.

According to police, Harris, going north on County Road 513 struck the left side of a parked car owned by Valbert Potvin of Rte. 2, Rapid River. Harris told officers he was traveling behind another car and didn't see the car parked on the shoulder of the road until he struck it.

Henry Ford Born 100 Years Ago On Michigan Farm

Editor's Note—One of America's most fabulous success stories is that of Henry Ford, a Michigan boy who left his father's farm to become the tycoon of the Model T, an industrial giant and a revolutionizer of both production methods and employment practices. The 100th anniversary of his birth will be observed July 30 with ceremonies at the farm site.

By CHARLES C. CAIN
DETROIT (AP)—A simple ceremony on the farmland where he was born will highlight Michigan's observance this week of the centennial of its most famous son—the late Henry Ford.

People from all walks of life, ranging from Gov. George Romney to Dearborn school children whose pennies paid for a $1,500 plaque at the farm, will commemorate Ford's birth July 30, 1863, in a farmhouse near suburban Dearborn.

Ford's three grandsons—Henry II, Benson and William Clay—all key executives with the motor company that grandfather founded, will participate.

Top event will be the dedication Tuesday of the plaque marking the site where formerly stood the Ford farmhouse.

Ford, son of a farmer, took a short fling at farm life himself before rebelling at the drudgery of the work and setting out on a career that was to make him the world's best known automotive figure. His most fantastic success was in the building of the Model T Ford, which he once said "put wheels under the world." More than 15½ million of these four-cylinder, plain looking cars were turned out and were found in every nook and corner of the world.

Money came to Ford easily within months after he founded the Ford Motor Co. in 1903 with just $28,000 in cash—none of it his. His ideas for speedy, mass production of autos on a moving assembly line soon made Ford the No. 1 auto maker of the world.

It had taken an average of 12½ hours to turn out a car, Ford was impatient with that slow pace. He wanted to build a lot of cars at a price the average wage earner could afford.

The assembly line idea, crude at first, soon won world acclaim for Ford. By 1920, he was turning out a car a minute.

Ford in 1919 undertook to buy up the shares held by his partners in the 1903 company. He paid out more than $105 million to such partners as former Sen. James Couzens of Michigan and the Dodge brothers of automotive fame.

That meant that by 1920, Ford held over 55 per cent of Ford stock; his wife, Clara, had 3 and his only child, Edsel, had over 41. It made it the largest family-owned concern in the nation. Ford family holdings were estimated at over $500 million.

One of the big question marks in Ford's career was his unwillingness to turn over the company reins to his son, Edsel.

While Edsel bore the title of president and worked with industry and distinction, he never assumed the full power of that office. Neither he nor his associates doubted that Henry Ford was the ultimate source of authority.

One of Henry Ford's quirks was that all officials, except Edsel, served without titles and never were sure of their standing.

Biographers of Henry Ford were in general agreement that one of his master strokes came in 1914 when he announced that all Ford production workers would get $5 a day. Up to that time, they had averaged $2.60. Ford raised that figure to $7 in 1921.

Many fellow employers criticized Ford for extravagance in wages, but he contended that the $5 made for more loyal workers, a more stable work force and improved production standards.

Known As Pacifist
Labor praised him at the time, but in later years he came in for criticism from unions when he opposed the United Auto Workers Union's successful attempt to organize his company. He always contended he "could do more for his workers and was more interested in them than some union boss in some faraway office."

Ford, an ardent pacifist, got some of his most adverse publicity with his actions before the United States got into World Wars I and II.

In World War I, he spent over half a million dollars in organizing a peace ship which was to take a group of leading world figures to Europe to "get the boys out of the trenches before Christmas" of 1916.

The auto magnate said later he never thought the peace ship would in itself bring peace, but he thought it would hasten it. Ford devoted 14 months to the idea.

When the United States got into the first world war, Ford put the full facilities of his company at government disposal. He built a wide variety of government ordered items, ranging from ambulances to eagle boats—predecessors of the PT boats of World War II.

In the postwar years, at the urging of then Democratic President Woodrow Wilson, Ford (a Republican) made a try for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senator from Michigan and lost by a narrow margin.

In 1922, many newspapers and magazines mentioned Ford as a possible presidential candidate. He did not veto the idea, until the then President Harding died in office and was succeeded by Vice President Calvin Coolidge. Ford then pledged his support for Coolidge.

Historians generally concede that Ford made a major mistake in the late 1920s when he retained full control of company policy, even though Edsel held the title of president. Ford, faced with increasing competition from General Motors and Chrysler, still turned out its old standby, the Model T, until 1927, when customer and dealer demand forced the company to bring out the Model A.

Ford's standpoint position during the years hurt it, however, as both Chevrolet and Plymouth got considerable attention from car buyers.

When war clouds threatened again, Ford—who accepted a controversial decoration from the Nazi Germany government in 1938—was again strongly opposed to U.S. entry into war. But again, when Pearl Harbor stunned the nation, Henry Ford put his entire effort into aiding the U.S. military operation.

One of his notable achievements was the building of the huge Willow Run bomber plant in Michigan, which used auto production line methods to turn out nearly 400 bombers a month.

The senior Ford suffered a mild stroke in 1939 and another early in World War II, but kept in close contact with his company's operations. He was deeply affected when Edsel died of cancer in May, 1943. Henry reassumed the presidency of the company, although he was 80 years old.

His grandson, Henry II, who was in Navy service, was released and joined the company, as did Benson Ford. Some reports said the senior Ford was anxious to transfer both grandsons to a California plant to get them out of his way.

Henry II became a vice president, however, and in 1945, succeeded his grandfather as president. He was aided in this by his grandmother, Mrs. Clara Ford, and his mother, Mrs. Edsel Ford. They convinced Ford Senior that it was time for him to step aside and end his one-man rule, which had brought Ford to the pinnacle but left it in poor shape to face the challenge of the 1940s.

Henry Ford II began reorganizing the company high command, bringing in such top men as Robert S. McNamara, who later became Ford president and then secretary of defense.

Henry Ford Senior lived in semi-retirement for the remainder of his life.

Ironically, on the night he died—April 7, 1947—in his palatial $2 million home Fair Lane in suburban Dearborn, a flooding river had knocked out the electric power and telephone. Thus Ford, born in farm house equipped only with candles, died with only a few candles lighting his bedroom.

New TV Shows Fail To Click

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is the season when television columnists visit this busy film community for a preview of fall and winter programs.

This activity involves visiting a lot of film studios and talking with producers, stars, writers and press agents. Each will inform the reporter that the series with which he is connected is going to be fresh, new, imaginative, off-beat, creative, just marvelous—undoubtedly the hit of the fall season.

The reporter will jot down the superlatives and privately maintain a steely wait-and-see attitude—not cynical and not entirely unbelieve.

After all, it was exactly 12 months ago when Buddy Ebsen, looking like a caricature of a southern mountaineer, was explaining earnestly that he believed a ridiculous comedy series called "Beverly Hillsbillies" would be a hit of the season. Most people were incredulous.

From Culver City on the south to the studios in the San Fernando Valley to the north, production of television programs is in high gear. One of the trade dailies put the number at 68 series, about 15 fewer than last year, however.

Some of the companies rearranged their shooting schedules—working on next season's product through the spring and early summer so they could take a long break in July and August. This is a popular idea, because it gives the series actors a chance to appear in summer stock and it gives the technical crews a chance to take vacations at a time when their children are out of school.

Four programs of CBS' "Judy Garland Show" have been based, and the way it is moving along belies predictions from wisecracks that CBS would have a problem creating an hour-long variety show around the singing star every week.

The biggest mystery in town involves NBC's sudden cancellation based on cases by investigators of the U. S. department of Health, Education and Welfare. Several shows had been completed and some $750,000 spent on it.

NBC gives no reason for the cancellation. It plans to replace it with "Temple Houston," an hour-long series about Sam Houston's son, a series about a lawyer, but with an old west flavor.

Meanwhile, the small crop of summer replacement shows dropped into network spots have held little excitement or interest. Biggest disappointment, perhaps, was "The Keefe Bransell Show" on CBS, which was smartly produced and rather attractive, but woefully lacking in material—particularly comedy.

CBS' "Celebrity Talent Scouts" was long on celebrities but very short on talent. And poor Jerry Van Dyke had a thin time trying to be the jolly host on an incredibly dull and puerile game show called "Picture This." George Fenneman's "Your Funny, Funny Films" on ABC, merely proved that amateur home movies are only funny to people who make them and—maybe—their closest friends.

Tall Belle Isle Dive Tower Burns

DETROIT (AP)—A fire destroyed the 50-foot unused diving tower of the Scott Memorial Fountain on Belle Isle Sunday.

The pre-dawn blaze, leaping in the air, attracted hundreds of spectators. Its cause was not determined.

The tower had been built six years ago for water shows in the fountain's reflecting pool.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Ann Landers

In Love; In Doubt

Dear Ann Landers: I've heard it said that marrying a divorced man is like buying a secondhand car. You buy somebody else's trouble.

Is this true or not? I've discussed this with several friends and have collected a fascinating variety of opinions. I'd like to see your answer in the column.

Thank you. — IN LOVE BUT IN DOUBT

Dear In: Some secondhand cars are bargains and can offer many years of faithful service. Others are awful disappointments because they were misrepresented by someone who wanted to make a quick sale.

It's always wise to get a little history. Why is it on the market? Has it been in a serious wreck and patched up to look as good as new? Or did the original owner unload it merely because she wanted a new model?

Dear Ann Landers: You seem to know a lot about psychology. Will you please explain why some people who are well off financially go out of their way to give the impression that they are actually hard up?

I can understand why people who are not very well-heeled might pretend to have something, but what about these other kooks?

Our friends live in a $50,000 home, drive three cars, take elegant trips and the whole family dresses beautifully. Yet they are forever crying poor mouth. They say such things as, "We can't understand why the Smiths invited us—we aren't in their league financially."

The truth is they can buy and sell the Smiths ten times over. What makes people behave like this?—CAN'T FIGURE 'EM

Dear Can't: The poor-mouthers have a silly notion about how people of means are expected to behave, and they don't feel equal to it. So they try to shake the label of "well to do" to avoid living up to their manufactured image.

Bragging in reverse is phony and bootless. Perhaps they'll see this and cut it out.

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to Marcella, the 14-year-old girl with the 35% hearing loss, was cold and inadequate.

No one ridicules a blind person because he can't see, or a lame person because he can't walk, but when a hard-of-hearing person says he can't hear he is often accused of not paying attention or using his handicap to goof off.

Why didn't you tell Marcella to check to learn if there is a speech and hearing clinic in her city? If a hearing aid is not prescribed she could take a lip-reading course.

You could have told her, too, to write to the Volta Bureau, 1537—35th Street, Washington 7, D. C. This is an information center which was founded by Alexander Graham Bell, whose wife Mabel was stone deaf. I do hope you will print this for the benefit of all the Marcellas who are struggling with partial deafness. You owe them more than they think.

If you tell a girl she's pretty, she's likely to overlook your other lies too.

got from your first reply.—TAMPA TEACHER OF THE DEAF

Dear Teacher: I appreciate your hauling me up so short for what you considered a "cold and inadequate" reply. Your letter is vastly better and more useful than my answer.

Confidential to Frazzled Nerves: Why don't you stop trying to please everybody and please yourself for a change? Then at least ONE person will be satisfied.

Confidential to OFFENDED OR OFFENSED: Sorry, but you are mistaken at the top of your lungs. The person who does the telephoning is supposed to identify himself. The woman was not rude when she asked "Who is this?" You were rude for not telling her before she asked.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Delores J. Gager Is Virgil Munroe's Bride

In a double ring ceremony Saturday at 2 p. m. Miss Delores Jacqueline Gager became the bride of Virgil Munroe. The wedding took place at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at Germfask. Rev. Walter Burns officiated at the service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gager of Seney and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bonfield, Germfask.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white embroidered nylon over taffeta. Her finger tip veil of white silk illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

For her role as maid of honor Cheryl St. Martin wore a pink nylon tulle over taffeta waltz length dress. She carried pink and white carnations.

Everett Anderson was best man and Donald Bonfield, a brother of the bridegroom and Gary Gehrett seated the guests.

The bride's niece Rebecca Lynn Gager was flower girl and wore a yellow net dress. James Barker, the bridegroom's cousin was the ring bearer.

Mrs. Gager wore a light blue dress with beige accessories and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a turquoise dress with white accessories.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the Germfask Grade School. The newlyweds will reside in McMillan. Both are 1963 graduates of Newberry High School. The bridegroom attended Northern Michigan University.

Ford River Lions Plan For Festival

The Ford River Lions Club members and their wives enjoyed a weiner roast last Saturday evening at Lemke's Resort at Fox. Mr. and Mrs. Art Lemke were hosts. Swimming and dancing were also part of the outing.

The Ford River Lions picnic will be held at Wells Park on Sunday, Aug. 4, with Joseph Rademacher Jr. as chairman of the event.

Also planned for the month of August will be a festival. It will be held in the Lions Community Building Aug. 25 and will be a public event with games and contests for adults and children.

General chairman for the Ford River Festival is Phil Miron. Committeemen will include: festival ball, Joseph Rademacher Jr.; activities and games, Donald Kline and Robert Hawes; chicken barbecue, Chris Bodjanac; promotional fund raisers, Ralph Nordquist and Joseph Rademacher Jr.; refreshments, Lawrence Kidd; and finance, Don Jacobsen.

Highland Women Meet Wednesday For Golf, Bridge

Women of the Highland Golf Club and their guests will meet for league golf and bridge Wednesday. Prizes will be given to winners of both leagues preceding the dinner.

Mrs. William W. Munro (Lee's Studio)

William Munro Claims Bride, Shirley Rohde

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Munro are honeymooning at the Smokey Mountains in Tennessee. They were married Saturday in Central Methodist Church. The new Mrs. Munro is the former Shirley Ann Rohde, daughter of Mr. and Raymond Rohde, Rte. 1, Gladstone.

Rev. Karl J. Hammar officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and white and mint green pompons.

Bridal Gown

A gown of white silk organza was chosen by the bride. It was styled in princess lines with frosty accents of alencon lace on the bodice and skirt and a miniature seed pearls trimming the scooped neckline. Her flowing skirt fell to a chapel train that buttoned to a bustle for the reception. A rose of matching silk organza centered a dainty pearl trimmed Swedish crown which held her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cluster of white butterfly roses with cascading carnations and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

The bridegroom, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Munro, 226 E. Eldridge Ave., Flint, was attended by his brother, Donald, as best man. Monte Simmons of Flint and Robert Rohde, Neenah, Wis., a brother of the bride, seated the guests.

For her role as flower girl, the bride's niece, Cheryl Ann Rohde, wore a yellow taffeta dress with white nylon overlace and carried a miniature bouquet similar to the bride's. Steven Sargent, Rte. 1, Gladstone, was ring bearer.

Attending Bride

Attending the bride were Roni Rose, as maid of honor, Mrs. Donna McAllister, Oxford, Iowa, and Mary Siria, Chicago, bridesmaids.

They wore identical sheath style gowns of nile green organza over taffeta with overskirts accented with lace and matching picture hats of fine silk illusion. They carried bouquets of white butterfly roses and mint green pompons.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Marco's Starlite Room. Mrs. Rohde greeted guests wearing a teal blue silk dress with a bell-shaped skirt and blue and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses and feathered white carnations. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pink crepe A-line dress with pink and white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses with feathered white carnations. At the reception the head table was centered with mint green carnations and pompons.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba Area High School and Gale Institute, Minneapolis. She was employed by Northwest Airlines in Chicago. Her husband graduated from Flint Northern High School and is presently employed by the Buick Motor Division of the General Motors Corporation. Guests from out-of-town were from Milwaukee, Neenah, Chicago, Flint and Oxford.

Superior Downs Esky 4-3 In L L Championship Game

Escanaba's Little Leaguers came about as close as a team can come to winning when they were downed 4-3 in District tournament action Saturday afternoon.

The little guys had a scoreless ballgame going until the last of the third when the Superior Nationals got two runs on four base hits and an error. Superior got two more in the fifth on two singles, two walks and a batter being struck by a pitched ball.

Then the Escanaba team came alive. Roger Chylek led off with his second single of the afternoon, and then promptly swiped second sack. Danny Mylander poked one to the centerfielder and Gary Johnson popped out to the pitcher.

Roger Chylek, who got two singles, a walk and stole second base in the championship game at Escanaba Saturday scores in the fifth when the second baseman for Superior bobbled a grounder off the bat of Pete Ross. Superior won the district tournament by downing Escanaba 4-3.

Piersall Flares

LA Angels Win Two; Yankees Finally Beaten

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't let the halo over Jimmy Piersall's head fool you. He's still the most tempestuous and argumentative player in baseball.

The newest Angel — he joined Los Angeles last Saturday — was back in an American League uniform for only a few hours when he became involved in another of his famous skirmishes with umpires.

This one had a little extra flair: An umpire wound up on the seat of his pants — with Piersall's cap with the halo on top in the dirt beside him. The game ended with Piersall on the outside looking in, a position in which the fiery outfielder may find himself if the league president, Joe Cronin, decides umpire John Stevens didn't fall but was pushed.

Piersall celebrated his return to the American League on Saturday by cracking two hits as the Angels downed the Boston Red Sox 5-2. Jimmy wasn't in the starting line-up as the Angels beat his old team 5-0 in the first game Sunday.

In the second game, which Los Angeles won 5-4, Jimmy was highly instrumental in the victory. He singled in the third inning, stole second and eventually scored. He singled again in the eighth and scored what proved to be the winning run when Billy Moran's double play grounder went through shortstop Eddie Bres-soud's legs.

Detroit beat Washington 3-2 and 6-4; Chicago's White Sox clipped Baltimore 4-1; the New York Yankees split a doubleheader with Minnesota, winning the second game 3-2 after the Twins won the opener 5-1, and Kansas City and Cleveland divided a twin bill, the Athletics winning the first 3-0 with the Indians taking the second 12-7.

In the ninth inning of the second game, Piersall didn't like a called strike by plate umpire Bill Kinnaman and protested vehemently. Kinnaman ordered him off the field. That only infuriated Piersall all the more.

Stevens charged in from second base in an effort to calm the raging Piersall but wound up in the dirt near home plate.

"Piersall still had his bat in his hand," Stevens explained. "I grabbed the bat in an effort to calm him. I told him to take it easy if he didn't want to get suspended."

"He let go of the bat and I had nothing to hold on to. As he swung away from me to talk to Kinnaman again, I fell down."

"But I don't blame Piersall for that. He was just mad and I was trying to calm him down."

Piersall said he was angry be-

Cubs Win 9th Straight UP Title

Escanaba Goes To Owosso For State Tournament

For the ninth consecutive year a city in the Lower Peninsula will be hosting the Escanaba Cubs in American Legion state championship action. The Cubs earned the right to represent Zone 5 (the Upper Peninsula) in the state tournaments by winning a best-of-three series with Marquette at Menominee over the weekend. Marquette was the 12th District Champs and Escanaba won the 11th District tournament by beating Menominee two out of three games last week.

The Cubs came from behind in the series after losing the first game 6-3. Mike Kositzky and Jerry Sundquist shared the pitching duties in the first game. The hitters couldn't get past the pitching of Roger Contois, except when Kositzky slapped a homer with two mates aboard. Gauthier collected two hits in that game, along with Bob Johnson and Frank Trotter. Jos Hebert had the only other hit off Contois.

Wally Schultz turned in another masterful performance in the second game on Saturday afternoon, scattering nine hits and allowing only one run. The earned run was the second against Schultz in the past three tournament games in which he pitched. In the second game Escanaba got its first two runs when Hebert led off with a single. Trotter fanned. Bruce singled, Mike Kositzky hit a sacrifice fly to center. Gauthier singled and Dave Kositzky singled. The Cubs didn't score again until the last of the ninth when Trotter led off with a triple and Gauthier singled him home.

Kurt Vandenberg was tough on the mound after the first inning, fanning 13 and walking three. Schultz was tougher, fanning 12 and walking only one. In all the Cubs collected 12 hits.

In yesterday's game for the Zone 5 Championship, the Cubs started the game as though they meant business. In the first four innings they got 19 men on base. They led off the bottom of the first with a double by Hebert, a single by Trotter, and later a single by Gauthier to score three runs.

Catcher Bob Johnson fanned for the fifth straight time against pitcher Vandenberg, who had come in to relieve Contois who started, but then pitcher Mike Gafner lined a three-bagger, Hebert singled for his second hit, and Trotter also collected his second single to send home Gafner.

The Cubs went wild in the third, when Mike Kositzky led off with a walk, Gauthier singled, Dave Kositzky tripled, Sundquist as he fanned making it two down and a man on first. Mylander and Johnson each singled driving in one run, and making the score 4-3 with two out. Miketinae was hit by a pitched ball, filling the sacks. Superior's Gary Reiter, who had gone the distance, threw another.

Little League activity will resume Tuesday night with the Bankers having a practice, and Rotary will practice Wednesday.

one of his change-of-pace balls and Pete Ross got out in front of the ball. It hit the end of the bat, spinning off about half way toward first base. Reiter got off the mound fast and barely got to the ball, grabbing it for the last out and clinching his victory.

Superior advances to the area tournament at Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin by virtue of Saturday's win.

In the consolation game played after the championship game, Ashland dumped Iron Mountain 12-4. For Ashland, catcher Dick Puffall got himself a grand slam homer, highlighting the game for the winners.

American Legion Fifth Zone chairman, Ted Mattson, of Ishpeming presents coach Al Ness with the championship trophy after Ness's ball club, the Escanaba Cubs, won their ninth straight Upper Peninsula championship against Marquette in Menominee Sunday. The team will travel to Owosso, which is midway between Flint and Lansing, for a tournament game on Aug. 7. The Cubs won the Zone 5 championship by winning a best-of-three tournament against Marquette 3-6, 3-1 and 11-4. (Daily Press Photo)

Giants, St. Louis Tied For Second

By JIM HACKLEMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Windy, foggy and chilly it may be, but Candlestick Park remains a happy haven for the San Francisco Giants.

Battered on a recent trip, losing nine of 13 and falling to fifth place in the National League, 10 games off the pace, the Giants have zoomed back into the pennant scramble since returning to Candlestick. The streak has boosted them into a tie for second with St. Louis, 4½ games back of the faltering Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Giants made it six in a row at home and seven straight overall Sunday, riding a two-run homer by Willie Mays to a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers found things less friendly at their palatial digs at Chavez Ravine. They were done in again by Philadelphia, 7-4, with homers by Clay Dalrymple and Johnny Callison the damaging blows.

The Dodgers have lost four straight on their current home stand, which opened promisingly with a pair of victories.

The Chicago Cubs cooled off St. Louis 5-1 and 16-11 and inched into fourth place ahead of, Cincinnati Reds, which split with Milwaukee. The Reds won the opener 4-3; the Braves posted a 5-2 decision in the second game.

In a night game at Houston, rookie John Bateman's slugging paced the Colts to an 8-2 romp over the New York Mets — who have matched the all-time major league mark of 22 straight losses on the road, set by Pittsburgh in 1890.

Mays, who had hit into one of three double plays executed by the Pirates, got the brushback

Marquette Wins In Babe Ruth Ball Tourney

PORT HURON (AP) — Boys from Marquette and Garden City starred at the bat in the Michigan Babe Ruth baseball tournament Sunday.

Dale Beerman batted in five runs as Marquette eliminated Port Huron Whites 10-9 in an extra, eighth inning. He hit a grand slam homer.

Ron Goulet pitched a three-hitter and also batted in five runs with a double and homer in Garden City West's 16-2 victory over Benton Harbor.

Ypsilanti Americans eliminated Port Huron Reds 7-3 and Algonac won from Northwest Detroit 4-3 in other games of the two-defeats-and-out tourney.

Today Benton Harbor met Ypsilanti and Northwest Detroit played Marquette.

Garden City West and Algonac, the only undefeated teams, meet Tuesday.

Palmer, Nicklaus, Boros Tie In Western Open

CHICAGO (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros, meeting in a 18-hole play-off today for the Western Open golf championships, faced the prospect with varying emotions.

Palmer was a little fidgety because of his putting.

Nicklaus, the cool All-American boy, beamed with confidence after great victories in the Masters and PGA.

National Open winner Boros, the seasoned veteran, seemed past the stage of being bothered by anything while enjoying one of his greatest golfing years at the age of 43.

The playoff winner gets $11,000. Second place is $5,500 and third $3,400.

Par at the Beverly Country Club is 36-35—71 and only eight players broke it for the 72-hole distance.

Boros, sharing fifth place with three others after 54 holes, came out of the pack with a closing 34-33—67 Sunday for 280, four under regulation.

Nicklaus, tied for fifth with two players, pulled up to 280 with a 33-33—66, lowest round of the tournament.

Palmer, who shared the third round lead with Sam Snead, stumbled in with a 37-32—73 after using 35 putts.

The 51-year-old Snead sagged to 40-35—75. He tied Charlie Sifford, the Negro pro who finished with a 69, for fourth place with 282.

Tommy Jacobs with 68, Harold Kneece with 70, and erstwhile leader, Fred Hawkins with 72, were at 283.

The playoff bunches the season's first three money winners. Palmer is tops with $85,956 with five tournament victories. Nicklaus has bagged $75,140 and Boros $63,546.

Palmer has been involved in 15 playoffs in his career, winning 10. In his last five tournaments, including the Western Open, he has been carried into four extra heats. He won the Thunderbird in sudden death with Paul Harey; captured the Cleveland Open by defeating Tommy Aaron in 18 holes, and lost to Boros in the National Open.

Boros has been in four playoffs and was beaten but once. Nicklaus has been in three, winning twice, including a victory over Palmer in the 1962 National Open.

Nicklaus moved into Sunday's deadlock by birdying two of the last three holes on putts of four and eight feet.

Boros could have wrapped it up on the last green but misjudged his 60-yard wedge approach. He left himself a 25-foot birdie putt which he missed.

Palmer never could get going after three-putting the first green for a bogey. His chances of an outright triumph vanished with bogeys on the 69th and 70th holes and he left himself a 20-foot putt on the 72nd that he could not sink for a winning birdie

Kaline Double Hero

Tigers Win Twin Bill From Senators 3-2, 7-4

DETROIT (AP) — Even playing below form, Al Kaline did enough in the last six weeks to bring the ultimate in praise from Charlie Dressen.

"He ranks with Jackie Robinson as the greatest player I ever managed and he's the best outfielder," said the Tigers' new manager after Kaline was twice a hero in a doubleheader victory Sunday.

Kaline won the first game as a two-run homer for a 3-2 victory over the last-place Washington Senators. His single started the three-run winning rally in the eighth inning of the nightcap and his speed produced the go-ahead run in a 7-4 triumph.

The Tigers responded to Dressen's last in finally slapping down the upstart Senators, who'd beaten them six times in eight games. The Senators had pulled within 6½ games of the Tigers' ninth-place position by winning the first two games of the series.

Dressen said he told the Tigers before Sunday's games they ought to be ashamed of themselves losing to Washington. It's a club whose players are "making crab-apples" compared to Detroit's high-salaried players, Dressen said he told the Tigers.

Boss of hundreds of players on the five major league clubs he's managed, Dressen thought a long while before comparing Kaline and Hall of Famer Robinson.

"Robinson was more exciting, he was stealing bases a lot," said Dressen. "Kaline had been tried ever since I took over the club.

But I've never seen him yet when he didn't run as hard as he could — like that run he had to score to put us ahead in the second game." Until Sunday, Kaline had a hard time getting going at his standard clip since Dressen took over 39 games ago on June 18. Kaline's fatigue and a sore leg were responsible for his slump.

"He's going to see me a lot better, then," said Kaline when Dressen's praise was relayed to him. "I've been struggling, I've been in a drought since a few days before he became manager. I feel I'm just starting to go again, I'm swinging better."

Kaline is batting .281 under Dressen with just five homers and 20 runs batted in. He hit .349 with 15 homers and 48 RBIs in the first two months when Bob Scheffing was manager.

Overall, Kaline's .323 batting average is second best in the American League. His 20 homers make him fourth behind the leader. He's first in RBIs with 68.

Kaline's homer in the fifth inning of Sunday's opener enabled the Tigers to beat a left-handed Pete Burnside — for only the fifth time against 22 losses. Jim Bunning was the winner, his first victory in three weeks.

Bunning came out with a pinched nerve in his elbow in the eighth. He's not expected to miss a turn.

George Thomas also homered in the opener as Detroit snapped a four-game losing streak.

Kaline started the Tigers off with a run-producing single in the first inning of the nightcap as Detroit stepped to a 3-0 lead. Norm Cash hit a homer off the right field roof in the sixth for Detroit's fourth run.

The Senators tied it 4-4 in the eighth. But in the bottom of the inning Kaline singled and went to third on Cash's double. Gates Brown lined to short center and Kaline raced in to make it 5-4. Bill Freehan followed with a two-run triple.

Phil Regan was the winner, but like Bunning, needed tight relief help from Fred Gladding.

The Tigers open a three-game series tonight at Baltimore with Mickey Lolich facing the Orioles' Robin Roberts.

Summer Program Going Well Says Director Petersen

It was announced today by Art Petersen, City Recreation Director that all recreational programs conducted by the City Recreation Department are now in full session and have been well attended.

The bathing beach under the direction of Francis Lueneberg is the most popular of the summer recreation programs with hundreds of boys, girls and adults using the facilities. Mike Mileski is in charge of the Junior and Senior Life Savings lessons and has a total of 36 boys and girls enrolled. John Fisher, director of the intermediate swimmers has 60 boys and girls enrolled along with 30 enrolled in the swimmers course. The swimming lessons conducted for boys and girls 6 years of age and over under the direction of Sue Snyder have 160 girls enrolled with 150 enrolled in the boys classes which are under the direction of Francis Lueneberg. With the warm weather prevailing attendance has been excellent at the beach this summer.

The bus service which has been in effect for the children of the North Escanaba section of the city the past three weeks has been very successful with a total of 335 registered for bus service to and from the beach. The bus leaves from the Webster School at 1:30 and 2 p.m. and returns from the beach at 4:30 and 5 p.m. Reverend Erlend Carlson, pastor of Christ the King Lutheran Church has been instrumental in the promotion and success of this recreation program. The Escanaba Kiwanis Club, Escanaba Rotary Club, Escanaba Lions Club, Exchange Club and the Escanaba Association sponsor the program which has been in effect the past two years.

The recreation league baseball program under the direction of Paul Vardigan has been very successful with two leagues being organized. The beginners league is for boys 7 years of age through 10 years and the Junior league for boys 12 through 14 years of age. Games are played Monday through Friday from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 p.m. at Royce Park, Webster Park and the Babe Ruth diamonds. Approximately 240 boys are registered in the baseball program. Teams in the beginners league represent their respective grade school with 2 teams normally selected from both the public and parochial schools.

The wading pool located at the Webster Playground is being supervised by Mrs. Ellen Johnson and is open Monday through Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. The pool is available for children 12 years of age and under. Attendance at the wading pool has been lower this year due to the bus service to the beach however many children can be seen each day using the wading pool facilities.

The Babe Ruth baseball program has been very successful again this year with 6 teams in the program. 90 boys comprise the league which includes boys 13-15 years of age. Sponsors of the program are: Mead Paper Company, Kiwanis Club, Elks Club, Escanaba Banks, Hamel Local 692 and the Insurance Agents Association. Games are played at the Babe Ruth Field on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 6:15 to 8:30 p.m. and a triple header is played on Saturday at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Rained out games are made up on Thursday and Friday evenings.

The Teen age dances held in Ludington Park at the lighted tennis courts were not as well attended the first part of the season however, are now picking up with attendance fair. This is due primarily to the many other activities being conducted and many other teen dances being held throughout the week. The dances are open to boys and girls 8th grade through the 12th grade. Music is provided by a record player. No charge is made for the dances held.

Club 314, Escanaba's Youth Center is now being re-decorated and will open September 16. The Club had a membership of 872 members last year and is open to boys and girls seventh grade through the twelfth grade. Many improvements will be made at the Club this year.

The Upper Peninsula Tennis Tournament will be held again this year the second or third week in August. Paul Vardigan is in charge.

Swimming Party Ends In Death For Ensign Boy

The body of 7-year-old George Willis of Ensign, who drowned while swimming at the mouth of the Ogontz River about 5:45 p.m. Sunday, was recovered in four feet of water by the boy's uncle, Franklin Willis, 20, at 8 a.m. today.

The child's body was located about 700 feet out in Ogontz Bay from the mouth of the river. State Police said the water where the body was found would have been from five to six feet deep at the time of the drowning.

The boy, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Willis of Ensign, had gone to the swimming spot with three companions, Danny Pardee, 13, Franklin Willis, 20, and Alvin McCarty, 31, all of Ensign.

When questioned by State Police today the group said they had last seen the boy as he crawled into the boat, which was anchored nearby. They said they and the boy had all been swimming with life-cushions, as none of them are good swimmers.

They told officers they thought the boy had become tired and returned to the boat to lie down. They said a short time later they noticed the life-cushion the Willis

Trap Ends Bear's Forays Into Camp

A big black bear that "called" once too often when Abel Takkinen was away from home has been trapped and disposed of by Conservation Officer John Seppi of Chatham.

Takkinen is a wood cutter who lives in a trailer north of Chatham. On weekends when Takkinen was away the bear broke into the trailer, entering through a window. Takkinen didn't like it and registered a complaint with Seppi on July 4.

Officer Seppi set a trap and in a couple days the trap was sprung by the bear without being caught. Twice more the bear entered the trailer before he was trapped on July 19. Bruin weighed about 200 pounds and was on the thin side.

"There are fewer wild berries now than in past years and I think this may cause bears to move about more and even to enter camps in a search for food," said Seppi.

Delta Democratic Women To Meet

The summer meeting of the Delta County Democratic Women's Club will be held Tuesday, July 30, at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Rodger Murray, 1214 S. 15th St.

A report of June state Central committee meeting by Mrs. Elvora Vader, 11th district delegate, discussion of the voter identification program and the fall rummage sale will be on the agenda.

All Democratic women are welcome to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Writers Form U. P. Group

Upper Peninsula Writers, gathering at Pequaming on Sunday, organized under that name after enjoying a program of fellowship and hearing Prof. J.W. Owen of the faculty of Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

Mrs. Anton Jenetski of Iron River was elected chairman of the Upper Peninsula Writers, Arne Arntzen of Escanaba was chosen vice chairman, and Mrs. Iga Harju of L'Anse au Loup is secretary-treasurer.

About 45 persons attended the gathering which was arranged by Mrs. Harju and held in Ford Cottage at the once-thriving town of Pequaming on the shore of Lake Superior. Those who attended have a more than casual interest in writing. Mrs. Jenetski is now at work on a novel, and Arntzen, Escanaba architect, has in the past been a contributor to several magazines and other publications.

Named to a committee to plan with the officers for the next conference were Mrs. Arlene Shovald of Iron River, Mrs. Helen Reskilo of Champion, Mrs. Lilly K. Carlson of Iron River and Mrs. Ruth Glasson of Hancock. The Iron County Writers Club had the largest representation at the Pequaming meeting.

Seven U.P. communities were represented at the meeting and those attending from Escanaba were Mr. and Mrs. Arne Arntzen, and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Lowell.

Reelect Chapekis To State Assn.

Nicholas P. Chapekis, Delta County prosecutor, returned Saturday from Mackinaw Island where he attended the annual meeting of the State Prosecuting Attorney's Association.

The meeting was held in the Grand Hotel, brought prosecuting attorneys from throughout the State of Michigan. During their election of officers Chapekis was reelected as a member of the board of directors.

Leo Farhat of Lansing was elected president of the association.

Discussed at the meeting were the search and seizure methods and criminal law as affected by the new constitution.

Indian Caves Yield Bones, Tools To U-M Researchers

Starting at the "doorway" of the caves overlooking the waters of the bay the young researchers worked their way with shovel, screen, whisk broom and fingers back to the cool shadows of the cave recesses. By CLINT DUNATHAN

University of Michigan researchers are exploring caves at Burnt Bluff in Delta County, discovering stone projectile points and tools of bones and fragments of bark "cloth" that reveal the caves once sheltered families of Indians who inhabited this region many centuries ago.

The difficult digging among the stones and rubble that has through the centuries fallen from the roof of the caves onto the floor is being done by Richard Peske and Charles Cleland, both research assistants with the Museum of Anthropology, U. of M., Ann Arbor.

The project is under the supervision of Prof. James B. Griffin, director of the Museum of Anthropology, and the work is financed by National Science Foundation grants. One other project in Michigan this season (exploration of mounds at Saginaw) is also financed by NSF funds.

Discover The Unknown

Peske has been on the northern Lake Michigan survey job since early this summer, exploring from St. Ignace westward along the shore of the lake to Menominee. Archaeological finds on the Garden Peninsula in Delta County and in particular the discoveries in the Burnt Bluff caves is centering this season's work there.

"We know something about the pre-history of the region and the survey is revealing how much we do not yet know," said Peske. "There is much field work yet to be done."

"Another objective is the finding of previously undetermined deposits, and to preserve the organic materials, such as the bones found in the caves at Burnt Bluff. In this way the articles may be carbonated. And we would also like to know whether exploration and excavation should be undertaken or continued at certain other sites."

At the caves the results of exploration have been "exciting" and the number of artifacts discovered "unusually abundant," said Cleland. That was certainly true in a period of couple hours recently when the young men unearthed and carefully labeled and boxed three flint projectile points, a bone spear point, and the bones of fish and animals.

Cave Paintings

These finds and others were made in sifting dirt from the floor of the larger cave, near which there is an Indian painting on rock. The property is owned by Henry Lang, Burnt Bluff farmer, who has made the caves accessible to the public. There are other "cave paintings" in the immediate area. They are the only ones of their kind in Michigan.

Cleland, a native of Kanes, Pa., has engaged in "cave digging" before. He worked with researchers in exploration of Ozark Bluff cave dwellings while studying at the University of Arkansas, from which he received a masters in zoology. Last year he worked at the Holcomb site north of Detroit, where occupation dating back to 7,000 B.C. makes it the oldest so far discovered in Michigan. Cleland is married and has a three-year-old daughter.

Peske worked three summers in exploration of mass burials on Bois Blanc Island in the Straits and last year was with a crew that excavated a village and mound near Muskegon. His masters in anthropology was received at the U. of M., he will teach at Madison next fall and work toward his doctorate at University of Wisconsin. Peske is married and has two children.

"We have examined the upper caves at Burnt Bluff, some 140 feet above the waters of the bay, and although we found indications of human habitation we felt there is the distinct possibility the caves may have been inhabited — perhaps 7,000 to 8,000 years ago," said Peske.

Exploring on hands and knees at the back wall of the cave Charles Cleland works carefully among the rocks in efforts to find any significant object. In this spot water drips constantly from the roof of the grotto.

Fine debris collected from among the rocks covering the floor of the cave is sifted through a screen. Richard Peske holds one of the several flint projectile points found in the cave.

The rubble is so deep in the upper caves that it will require much work to clear them down to the floor in the search for evidence in the "detective story" of early man in Michigan.

For this reason more manpower is needed and the University of Michigan may send a larger crew to the Burnt Bluff site next year.

Burnt Bluff is one of the most spectacular formations of the Lake Nipissing transition stage to be found in the Great Lakes region. The caves in which the arrow points and bone implements were found were formed by the waters of this old glacial lake some 3,000 years ago and the waters then lowered to leave them as an inviting shelter to Indians of the region.

The bluff itself is composed of limestone of the Silurian period some 425 million years ago and is part of the Niagara escarpment whose cliffs can be traced from the Mississippi River in a northward-curving circle to Niagara Falls.
